

ISRAEL THOMAS.

[To accompany bill H. R. No. 535.]

JULY 21, 1842.

Mr. BAKER, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT :

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was recommended the petition of Israel Thomas, with additional testimony, report :

That the additional testimony referred to them consists of a deposition of General Leslie Coombs, of Kentucky, which fully supplies the defect of the evidence, as first examined by the committee, in respect to the principal fact of the receipt, by the petitioner, of a severe wound in the action generally known as Dudley's defeat; and of a deposition of the honorable L. W. Andrews setting forth that he is well acquainted with the petitioner; that he appears to be a very feeble old man, and his infirmity is generally spoken of as being in consequence of a severe wound received in the action known as Dudley's defeat during the last war; and that, in the opinion of the deponent, the petitioner is entirely incapacitated from obtaining a support by manual labor, and that he is a man of high respectability.

Mr. BAKER, from the Committee on Invalid Pensions, made the following

REPORT

The Committee on Invalid Pensions, to whom was recommended the petition of Israel Thomas, with additional testimony, report that the additional testimony referred to them consists of a deposition of Israel Thomas, of Kentucky, which fully supplies the defect of the original testimony, and is examined by the committee in respect to the facts of the case, by the petitioner, of a severe wound in the action generally known as Dudley's defeat; and of a deposition of the honor- able W. Andrews setting forth that he is well acquainted with the pe- titioner; that he appears to be a very feeble old man, and his indignity is generally spoken of as being in consequence of a severe wound received in the action known as Dudley's defeat during the last war; and that in the opinion of the deponent, the petitioner is entirely incapacitated from obtaining a support by manual labor, and that he is a man of high respect- able position.
